Because the serpent's tail is always wrapped around your nose, you'll need a lot of help dealing with strange customers and crazy things. Each real-life pharmacy, used for game testing, is 4x4 meters big. Internet-free gameplay is refreshingly realistic. No expense was spared to recreate Dr. No from Back to the Future II's pharmacy in perfect detail. Apart from gameplay, the game creates a certain humor too. ----- Miryam ----- Miriam is a squirrel and a half, but she isn't all there is to her self. Miriam doesn't talk, so you have to help her write her own story. She will act as an author, composer, lyricist and supervisor of the production process. What's new:

(radio series) Pilot Unknown is a radio drama talk-radio series broadcast on BBC Radio 4, and produced by Masterpiece Contemporary from 2001 to 2005. It followed a similar format to That Was the Week That Was, with stories based around over-the-air television programmes and movies from the 1960s and 1970s. Producers Howard Brandston Casts The host of the show was known as the "nightwatchman" and was varied amongst the programmes. A real person, but rarely given a name. The "nightwatchman" was only heard at the beginning or end of each programme, and he revealed a small part of the story before the character stepped forward. The episodes are presented as flashback pieces, with slight increases in the time allotted to the story for each new story being told. In the opening introduction, the story would begin when television was in its infancy, and with old black and white films of the time. The narrator would recount a story, which involved an older male adult, and that adult would often answer questions. New Game Added to the App Store: Ocean on Fire in iPhone/iPod Touch version About This Game: If you can remember "Ocean on Fire", this is a pretty good approximation of it in terms of game play.
